

Although the USAlert WatchDog pager comes standard with a detachable belt clip, a stylish black Leather Carrying Case gives you another option for wearing your pager. The WatchDog Leather Carrying Case is an open top design for easy use of the control knobs and monitor button. This design holds the pager securely in place but also allows easy removal when messages are received. An array of front side holes allow clear audio to be heard while the pager is still in the case. An assembly of two metal fasteners connected together with a flexible bungee-type cord can be looped over a belt and snapped onto the back of the leather case. Alternatively, an open belt can slide through the assembly opening if both metal fasteners are already connected to the back of the leather case.
